

_____ has something to Contribute.

No one is so poor that they have _____ to bring.

Ask people to be the _____ to their own problem.

Allowing them to _____.

That's what _____ really is.

God has given everyone inherit _____, _____, and _____.

When you feel that you are better than them, have more knowledge, are more educated, and have more answers...

You are set up for _____ not _____.

There is an assumption of need-based thinking: That there is a deficit of...

NEEDS-BASED DEVELOPMENT

Focuses on the deficits and shortcomings in the life of a person or community

SOLUTIONS AND RESOURCES COME FROM OUTSIDE THE INDIVIDUAL OR COMMUNITY.

- human resources,
- economic resources, and
- knowledge resources.

It is often the case that simply _____ people to consider their gifts

IS poverty alleviation,

The _____ point is to focus on the gifts & abilities they already have.

Where to Begin:

1. Ask what gifts do you have?
2. What are your dreams?
3. What prevents you from achieving your dreams?
4. Identify resources that you have access to in helping them achieve those dreams and offer those.

When you bring _____ to a people's lives that are static & stable...

You're actually creating _____.

It blinds them to their own _____.

Only bring outside resources to _____ resources, not to replace them.

PARTICIPATION is the engine of development that creates

_____ & _____.

PARTICIPATION isn't just a means to an end....

but PARTICIPATION is a valid _____ in its own right.